6.—In awarding of prizes the contestant securing the greatest number of votes or points at the final count would receive the first prize. The contestant scoring the second greatest number of votes or points would receive the second prize; and so on down to the 18th prize. In case of a tie between two contestants, the winner will be decided by a properly conducted bean jar guessing contest. To illustrate: If three contestants tied for first prize they would guess at the number of beans in a jar and the one guessing nearest would receive the first prize; the one guessing next nearest would of course receive the second prize; and the one

PICARIELLO APPEAL TO LAST TO END OF WEEK

Edmond Picariello, 30—Present indications are that the application of J. McKinley Cameron, K.C., of Calgary, for a new trial on behalf of Emil Picariello and Florence Lassandro, now being heard before the appellate division of the supreme court of Alberta will not be brought to a conclusion until the latter part of the week. Three questions have been raised by Mr. Cameron as to the competency of the jury, the admissibility of certain alleged confessions, but of these points approximately 10 have been argued to date. Commencing on his second day of argument, Mr. Cameron brought up the question of the alleged confession of the convicted woman, Mrs. Lassandro. The fact that the Alberta provincial police officer Scott, who was taking a main part in the investigation, had not been in court, written down or taken any notes of Mrs. Lassandro's alleged confession was given considerable emphasis by Mr. Cameron. The counsel for the appellants cited evidence at the trial before Mr. Justice Walsh to show that Scott admitted that the first time he had put down the alleged confession in writing was his report to the court, some nine or ten days following the incident and had not been in court in his head" during that time.

RULES OF TIMES' BIG SUB. CONTEST

third in the bear jar guessing contest would receive the third prize—that moving all contestants following the three tied ones down on the list two places—the next highest contestant drawing fourth prize, and the applicant would be the same in principle if he was for fourth prize or any other prize. However, there is a very remote contingency—not a chance hardly of a tie. To contestants who drew less than a $200.00 prize the contest 10 per cent. of the cash they take in will be returned to them as a consolation prize.

7. To the contestant scoring the greatest number of votes or points during the first two weeks of the campaign will be given a special prize of a 4-piece Silver Plated Afternoon Tea Set, valued at $250.00. Arrangements have been made with K. W. Russell Jeweller, that the winner of this prize will be allowed to exchange it for any other article or articles in his jewelry store to the value of $250.00. This bonus period will close on Saturday, February 17th, at 6 o'clock in the evening. In cases where returns are mailed or sent in from points outside of Macleod and arrive at The Times' office later than the closing hour specified, contestant turning such returns in must send with them postmaster's receipt showing mailing returns at or before 6 o'clock on Saturday, February 17th, or if brought in personally after the closing hour must make affidavit that returns were in their hands prior to the specified closing hour. The foregoing is to allow out-of-town contestants to work up to the closing hour. Macleod contestants who cannot get in at closing hour with returns will also be obliged to make affidavit as foregoing.

8.—The Times management reserves the right to give a prize to the contestant scoring the highest number of votes or points in any other week of the contest after the third week, bonus not to exceed 15,000 votes, each contestant to be properly notified of such bonus of votes before the week in which it becomes effective.

9.—The Times' management reserves the right to increase the vote or point values on extra subscriptions (that is where a subscriber pays for more than one year's subscription) at any time during the campaign, provided that the subscriber is notified of the increase in value; and reserves the privilege of specifying, whether or not extra subscriptions must be for delivery to the person paying for same.

10.—Contestants will please mark vote or point values on all three subscription receipts on each page of receipt book, making the receipts out in triplicate and keeping in their receipt book the No. 1 receipt as a record of their standing and by which they may assure themselves of the fairness of the awarding of prizes after the final summing up. The No. 2 receipt with cash to be forwarded to The Times; the No. 3 receipt to be given to the subscribers.

11.—The Macleod Times' management reserves the right to give further prizes in this contest if so desired, and under rules to be specified by The Macleod Times' management.

12.—The following committee of Macleod business men will do the final auditing and summing up of the total votes or points for each contestant and prizes will be awarded as per their final count: W. Embury, manager of Union Bank; R. D. McNay, proprietor McNay's Drug Store; and W. A. Day, proprietor of the White Hall Hotel.

The final summing up of the contestants' votes or points will occur Monday, May 7th, 1923, and immediately after the committee have summed up and decided the winners the prizes will be awarded according to standing.

—contestants will be notified as to their standing, and an explanation called at the Times office for their prizes which will at once be delivered into their possession.

Standing of contestants will be published weekly, commencing with the third week of the campaign—policy standings may be published second week, but the latter at the option of the Times Management, as it is considered a fair proposition to withhold standings until after the awarding of the special prize offered for contestants scoring the highest number of votes or points during the first two weeks of the campaign.

A final word: If contestants will use their receipt books properly and fill out the vote or point values properly as specified in these rules, they will have in their own possession a proper record of their standing which will make it impossible to defraud them by error or otherwise of a single earned point. Each contestant keep a record of his or her standing. Since a contestant make out vote or point values on a receipt in error they will be notified from The Times office, and required to rectify same on their receipt and that of The Times, failing which the money turned in to The Times with a receipt in error as to vote or point values will be returned to them with the receipt and will not count to their credit till rectified. This system will obviate any chance of dissatisfaction.

The jewelry and silverware prizes may be seen at K. W. Russell's Jewellery Store, where they are on display. The $250.00 Victrola may be seen on display in A. D. Ferguson's drug store.

when the case opens, as the railways are not ready to begin at once, but Premier John Oliver of British Columbia, and G. C. McGeer, counsel for the province, have arrived at the capital and are ready to begin what they hope will be a fight to a finish.

Last year, Alberta, though sympathetic, would not join forces with British Columbia in the fight, but in the meantime the great development in the export of western grain through the port of Vancouver has convinced the government of Alberta that the interests of the province are allied with those of British Columbia on this question. Tuesday last Mr. McGeer received the following telegram from Premier Greenfield: "You are authorized to state that the Alberta government is joining with the government of British Columbia in the appeal."

Alberta is sending Mr. Chard, in charge of the freight traffic bureau of the province to Ottawa, to assist in fighting the case. This follows various conferences which Premier Oliver has recently held with the Alberta government with a view to bringing this about.

When interviewed Premier Oliver stated that the fight affected Alberta as well as British Columbia. He said that the full force of the mountain strike eastward as far as Regina on materials moved eastward from British Columbia, and westward to British Columbia. "The mountain rates apply downhill from British Columbia to Calgary, and the prairie rates uphill from Calgary to Vancouver."

"We hope," he said, "to present British Columbia's right to the removal of the mountain scale more forcibly than before, as we have more information available, and can put it to certain proportion of the relief we are demanding as our right. Certainly this heavy westward movement of grain has strengthened our case. We hope to arrange for going on with the matter as soon as possible after Alberta's representative arrive.

"We are not here with any idea of fighting the railways or any section of Eastern Canada. We mainly desire to get out that the development of Alberta and British Columbia is such today that there is the necessity to make trade between the prairie provinces and the Pacific as free from encumbrances as possible, and in the belief that a reduction in rates will be of material assistance to the wheat and livestock producers of the prairies, as well as to the industrial activities of British Columbia. Since the Panama canal has been opened, the trade of the Pacific coast has been rapidly advancing, and cities like San Francisco, Portland and Seattle, have developed markedly. It is the belief in British Columbia that the high freight rates between the prairies and the coast are preventing Canadian export ports like Vancouver, Victoria and Prince Rupert, from getting as much of this business as they should."

Premier Oliver will also consult with the government on the matter of immigration while he is in Ottawa, as it is closely linked up with the matter of fair freight rates.

"We believe," he said, "that the development of the trade between the prairie and the Pacific is one of the ways in which immigration can be encouraged as it will tend to make those now in the west prosperous. It will help in the solution of the railway problem by developing the volume of tonnage."

M.P.P. for Macleod Replies to Speech From the Throne

Two speeches, both from the government benches, formed the sum total of the contribution to the debate on the speech from the throne at the Wednesday session of the legislature in Edmonton. The speech was moved by W. G. Farquharson, farmer member for Ribstone, and seconded by W. H. Shield, farmer member for Macleod.

The speech from Mr. Farquharson in moving the speech from the throne was brief and to the point. The effort of the member from Macleod, Mr. Shield, was much more pretentious and held the interest from start to finish. Mr. Shield made some very plain observations about farming conditions in general and urged government co-operation in marketing and general direction of the farming industry and warned that in the final analysis the failure of agriculture is a question of the ability and spirit of the individual farmer.

He struck an optimistic note right at the start when he said that the prediction of the member for Lethbridge last July that there would be many hungry huddled crops in the south western portion of the province had been more than fulfilled. There were some forty and some even of fifty bushels, and so far as he knew there were no requests coming in from that section for seed and relief for the coming spring. That result, he thought, was a worthy tribute to the farmers of a district who "ad had six short crops."

After congratulating the department of agriculture on its hopper campaign, during which 14,000 tons of material had been distributed, Mr. Shield launched into an appeal for economy in all departments, even at the expense of curtailing services, though too much economy should not be practised in primary schools. We can wait for two or three years for roads, but our children cannot go for two or three years without education.

In urging the need of aid in marketing, the member for Macleod declared that if at all possible the government should investigate and endeavor to do all possible to keep the pioneer farmers on the farm. The pioneer farmer is an asset.

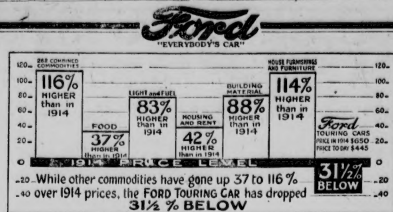

Extension of the Night Area Relief Act was important, said Mr. Shield, though he advocated some changes for the act. He would give a greater measure of local control. Too much centralization of the administration of the act the next year, he understood, was the main objection to it. He thought if applications to come under the provision of the act were made up of representatives of both debtors and creditors, better results could be secured. The act, he said, had resulted in the liquidation of many unsecured creditors and for this reason should be discontinued.

Mr. Shield was optimistic even about the present condition of agriculture in the province. In Great Britain three government commissions are investigating agricultural conditions in an effort to help the farmers. In the state of Kansas the newly-elected governor, himself a farmer, had stated after his election, that the net returns from the farms of Kansas last year would not pay the interest on the mortgage indebtedness of the farms of the state. After five years of short crops the speaker thought that Alberta should consider itself well off that conditions were no worse. He saw signs that conditions in the industry were on the upgrade. Freight rates have been reduced, unemployment is less than a year ago and other industries are coming back, creating a better home market for the farmers, and he believed that the end of the drought cycle is approaching. However, the real factor in the recovery of the industry rested in the people themselves and he was glad to note that the farmers are paying more attention to the little things, such as the raising of poultry, keeping dairy cows and trying to live off the farm more than heretofore.

With respect to marketing, he urged the wheat board, saying the farmers had been good producers but poor sellers, and he asked for a general investigation of marketing conditions by the government. Co-operative marketing by the farmers should be the aim, and he pointed to the success of the new co-operative marketing scheme in the Pincher Creek district.

In connection with the future of irrigation, the member for Macleod was highly optimistic that the farmers would be able to produce so as to make their irrigated farms pay, and pointed to the success of the Vauxhall Stock Farms, which though established only two years, this year raised on a section of land enough alfalfa to feed through the winter nearly 5500 head of stock, mostly sheep, and in addition would sell two hundred tons of hay. The farm, in addition, had produced 100 acres of wheat last year. There was hope for the future when such production was possible.

The speaker was very optimistic about the future of corn raising in Southern Alberta and believed it would result in a big future for the long frost free areas of Southern Alberta. Corn crops raised in the south this year had equalled those of many sections of Iowa, or Kent County, Ontario. "I have no reason to doubt the future prosperity of Alberta," said Mr. Shield in conclusion. "We are approaching an era of considerable railway construction. I believe our production will be soon on a basis where immigrants will come against any effort which may be made to

Everybody's Business

The Ford Motor Company has made a genuine attempt to give the public automobile transportation at a price within the reach of all. It has carried out the ideals of the inventor of the Ford Car, Henry Ford, and has placed the Ford Motor Company in the position of performing a public service to the people of Canada.

It has definitely made Ford products a national institution—being such, the Ford Motor Company believes it is justified in telling the public it serves, how the present low price of Ford Cars can be maintained in 1923.

How the Present Low Price of Ford Cars Can Be Maintained in 1923

We are absolutely frank with the public when we say that the present low prices are not justified by present production but only by the production it is hoped will result from them. The present low prices for Ford Cars are based on maximum production only. Today's market on steel and other raw material that goes into the manufacture of Ford Cars will not warrant three prices except at peak production. Ford prices must go up unless they are justified by increased production.

Everybody's Business

The Ford Car is everybody's Car—the Ford business is everybody's business. You and your neighbor, and his neighbor are all vitally affected by the price of Ford Cars.

If you are at all concerned about buying a Ford this year make it your business to let the Ford Motor Company know about it.

Songs by Mrs. C. Brewster and Mrs. R. Russell were much enjoyed. Mrs. Edwards gave a very interesting account of the interview with the government at Edmonton. The officers for 1923 are: President, Miss Muir; Vice-presidents, Mrs. R. J. E. Gardiner, Mrs. Heap; Secretary, Mrs. Whipple; Treasurer, Mrs. Peterson.

RADIO LINKS PITCAIRN ISLAND WITH THE WORLD

Pitcairn Island, a lone point of land rising almost 2000 feet out of the southern Pacific Ocean, has a radio station, according to a cable message from Honolulu, and for the first time in its history is in direct communication with the outside world, says the New York Herald. Mails come at intervals as many as five years clapping between their arrivals. Lying out of lanes of Pacific travel few ships pass Pitcairn, and sailors aboard these are loath to risk their lives to make a landing in the high seas beating against the rocky coasts. There is no good reason for laying a cable to Pitcairn and the radio thus presented the only means of linking up the people of this lonely island with the rest of the world. There are about 100 people living on the island. Most of them are descendants of the mutineers, who seized the British ship Bounty, and settled on Pitcairn in 1790.

Only One Visit

Once the islanders, greatly reduced in numbers by sickness, were transferred to another island, but they had formed such an attachment for the island that they were returned to it. The island forms part of the High Commissioner of the Western Pacific, but the only visit ever made to it by a High Commissioner was that of Sir Cecil Rodwell in 1921. The inhabitants of the island, who are Seventh Day Adventists, lost their minister in 1896 and were without another until last year, principally because no ship could be found to carry to Pitcairn with his family the one man who was willing to accept this remote charge. The islanders first heard of the world war when it was almost ended. The Pacific and its islands have again a place in the news since the writers of South Sea romances have stopped finding lands inhabited by nymphs and sirens of wondrous beauty. New islands are still being discovered. Others are apparently dropping out of sight.

Vanishing Islands

A few days ago a Japanese vessel went out into the Pacific to take possession of one of the awards of an international conference and found that the prize had disappeared. The ship steamed around the island and took soundings at a point where the island was reported to be, but could find no trace of it. The Pacific still holds many secrets besides those of treasure buried on its islands and sunk with lost ships. The United States navy recently made a chart of 15,000 square miles of the Pacific bed and reported the finding of several new mountains of considerable height. An attempt was made by a geographical expedition to find the greatest depth of the Southern Pacific valleys, but it reported that no instrument has been invented that would measure it. The radio is bringing the islands into closer communication with one another and with the mainland. Honolulu recently reported that music broadcasted by a radio station at Atlanta, Georgia, was heard distinctly at Walluku, Island of Maui.

Used to Isolation

The Pitcairn islanders are a simple hard working people and apparently they are not discontented with their isolation. The idea possessed by many of them of the outside world comes largely from traditions of their ancestors. A traveler who visited the island as a member of the High Commissioner's party said that the men showed little curiosity regarding the world, and that the women were not interested in how women elsewhere were dressing. The island is dry, the

Annual Meeting Town of Macleod & School Board

The Town of Macleod annual meeting held on Friday, January 26th, was fairly well attended. Representing the council there were present Mayor Fawcett and Councillors McNichol and McLeod, and Secretary Brown. Mayor Fawcett, as chairman, after a few appropriate introductory remarks called upon Secretary Brown for the reading of the financial statement for 1922. In this connection Mayor Fawcett stated that publication of the statement would occur later. The mayor said the amendment to the Town Act, which calls for the annual meeting being held on the last Friday in January and the books for the year not being closed till the 31st of December, handicaps a town office considerably in preparing and publishing a financial statement prior to the annual meeting—not sufficient time elapsing between the closing of the books and the meeting to allow a secretary-treasurer of a town to make his balance and have books officially audited, even if an auditor is immediately available.

The reading of the financial statement showed remarkable gains in the water and light departments and collection of taxes appeared to have been remarkably good considering the general financial depression.

After the reading of the financial statement Mayor Fawcett announced the meeting open for the proposition of question by the ratepayers and for general discussion of town affairs from an administrative standpoint and which resulted in those present getting a better understanding of local municipal affairs. Both Superintendent Pearson and Secretary-Treasurer Brown gave advice for information in detail regarding their departments. Mayor Fawcett reported verbally on expenditure in relief, saying that while greater than usual, was satisfactory when compared with other places in the province. The mayor explained the matter of refunding of past due debenture interest, also stated that arrangements had been made with the Bank of Commerce to carry town's past due indebtedness over a further period of ten years, which would tend to obviate the possibility of a financial crisis being precipitated in town.

affairs in its business relations with the bank and the bondholders.

Mayor Fawcett also reported various negotiations between the town and the Western Canada Gas Company as regarding rates and service, showing the gas company to have been courteous and considerate, and showing conditions as between the town and the gas company to stand as heretofore.

The mayor reported the council's obtaining the consent of the bondholders and finance commission to the selling of the steam plant and investing proceeds of sale in another gas plant unit.

Mayor Fawcett stated that plans are under way for the re-organization of the fire brigade, which involves the use of a motor-driven truck. He went on to explain in detail the matter of the council's having obtained a settlement of title to public utility lands, a full report of which statement appeared in The Times of a recent date.

In closing his remarks the mayor expressed appreciation of members of the council regarding attendance, attention and service in Macleod's interests during the past year, and finally said that to him should offer office on the Macleod council unless prepared to give free, honest, unselfish service on behalf of the town. If any were seeking a place in the council with a view to personal aggrandizement they were better to continue in the paths of honest citizenship rather than gain-seeking journeyman.

On conclusion of the mayor's address the annual meeting adjourned to be followed immediately (as provided by statute) by the convening of the annual school meeting.

At the close of the town meeting the annual school meeting went in session. R. T. McNichol, chairman of the board, called the meeting to order and gave a short resume of the board's activities during 1922. The reading of the financial statement showed that the conducting of school affairs had been kept well within the estimates. The teaching service was shown to have been highly satisfactory. Mr. McNichol demonstrated that Macleod's public and high schools are being operated at a cost below the average of schools of this class in the province, which taken in consideration with the general efficiency of Macleod's schools, speaks well for the board's administration.

The meeting was thrown open for general discussion and questions, which were answered to the satisfaction of interrogators, after which the annual meeting adjourned.

LOCAL & PERSONAL

Miss Matheson and Donnie Matheson of Granum were in town Saturday night for the dance held in the G. W. Y. A. Hall.

The radio concert given by the Davis Bros. in the Old Fellow's Hall on Friday evening was greatly enjoyed by the large number of people who took advantage of "listening in" at the first radio concert held in Macleod.

R. J. E. Gardiner, secretary of the Agricultural Society, has just received from the seed branch of the department of agriculture the list of exhibitors at the Provincial Seed Fair held last month in Edmonton, which gives the amount of seed for sale and the prices of all these exhibitors. Farmers requiring seed grain can see this list at Mr. Gardiner's office.

Ruth Macintosh and R. J. E. Gardiner were in Calgary last week attending the annual convention of the Fairs Association of Alberta. The dates for the fairs in the province were fixed at the convention and the Macleod dates are Wednesday and Thursday, August 8th and 9th, one week later than last year. Mr. Macintosh was again re-elected a member of the executive of the association.

MACLEOD DEFEATS BOTH CLAREHOLM AND PINCHER

Monday evening, January 29th, saw the best game of hockey that has yet been played on the rink in Macleod. A week ago a good game was won by the home team when they played Carleton, while they lost to Clareholm last week on Clareholm ice. But Monday last, with a score of 2-1 in favor of the local boys, wipes out all previous records. The ice was in fine shape, with the thermometer just below zero, and the boys feeling in fine fettle, from both sides came the play cry of us are here to win. The Clareholm visitors were the seniors of that town, and did well, while the home boys were only boys, the juniors, most of whom are attending the public school here. They proved too fast for the visitors. Judging from the noise made by the rosters, every one was satisfied with the game and one was anxiously waiting for the next one.

Yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon the Pincher Creek Juniors visited the Macleod High School hockey team on local ice and lost by a score of 4-3. There was a lot of a turnout of fans owing to the short notice given that there was to be a game, nobody appearing to know of it until Pincher arrived on the afternoon train.

The average girl loves to figure in a pressing engagement.
